SeaCamp Bullying Policy

To ensure all of our campers have a safe, enjoyable experience at SeaCamp, we ask that you share the following information with your child.

- Do not to participate in or initiate bullying.
- SeaCamp has a strict no bullying rule; no form of bullying (physical, verbal, etc.) will be tolerated.
- Parents will be contacted if bullying does occur and the offending camper may be asked to leave camp for the day, and exclusion for the rest of the week may be considered (dependent upon offense and at discretion of camp staff). Refunds will not be issued if your child is asked to leave camp due to behavioral issues.
- We encourage parents and campers, to report bullying immediately.

SeaCamp Corrective Action and Discipline Policy:

Positive reinforcement approaches and strategies will used to promote and support respectful and positive behaviors during camp. When disruptive or negative behaviors do arise, camp staff may use the strategies below to address the issue.

- Re-explain and describe expected behaviors and actions during camp activities, including cause and effect of behaviors and actions
- Model for and directly instruct or guide correct behaviors and actions of campers
- Discretely speak with camper about behavior or action, jointly agree on approved/correct behavior expected in future
- Re-direct camper behavior to positive and appropriate behavior, either in same situation/location or to an alternative place or activity (e.g., instead of not sharing pencils at table, ask camper to help pick up puppets)
- Stand next to camper or ask student to sit/stand next to camp staff

Should additional corrective action be necessary, or if disruptive or negative behaviors persist or accelerate, parents/guardians will be notified during the day or during pick-up and these steps may be taken (as appropriate):

- Removing participation in a camp activity, or “privilege” (e.g., playing a game or touching an animal);
- Taking a “time out” from camp activities and spaces by sitting with one of their camp counselors, or with another camp counselor/staff, away from fellow campers

- Contacting parents/guardians for a phone conversation with camper and/or immediate pick-up of camper
- Elimination from camp for a day (no refunds will be granted if this occurs)

We respect and understand each child is an individual. We recognize each camper will respond to and engage in camp in different ways. We aim to provide the most positive and enjoyable environment for all our SeaCamp campers. If you have specific strategies for communication during tough or emotional moments that work best with your camper, please share these with SeaCamp staff during check-in. We try to accommodate and include best practices strategies whenever we can.
